

ALISON WURTZ, LDT, CALT, M.SP.ED.

Alison Wurtz, founder of Multisensory Teaching, is a Certified Academic Language Therapist, a Licensed Dyslexia Therapist and holds a Masters in Special Education. Alison was motivated to learn more about teaching when it became apparent that her son, Travis, required a different approach to reading instruction.

As Alison instructed her children, she found it necessary to further her training and education. Through this dedication came a commitment to help other students reach their potential using teaching methods that focused on their strengths. After more than 20 years working with students, the mission of Multisensory Teaching continues to be to empower children struggling with learning differences.

Free Consultation
SUPPORT & ANSWERS

www.MultisensoryTeaching.com

www.MultisensoryTeaching.com

P.O. Box 175
Port Ewen, NY 12466
(845) 802-0086

Alison Wurtz, LDT, CALT, M.Sp.Ed.
info@MultisensoryTeaching.com
(845) 802-0086

WHO is helped and supported?

A CHILD

Multisensory Teaching can give a child the tools necessary to succeed in their current learning environment as well as confidence through strategies that ignite learning for a lifetime.

THEIR TEACHER

Teachers receive personalized instructional strategies to support the implementation of Response to Intervention (RTI).

WHAT you receive:

For children whose progress at school is affected by learning differences, Multisensory Teaching provides comprehensive services that include:

1. Standardized Academic Tests/Assessments to identify a child's strengths/weaknesses within the learning process.
2. A Written Report detailing all assessment results, including recommendations for educational support.
3. Ongoing Support to ensure parents and schools are provided with appropriate assistance.

Sample Support Recommendations:

- Best methods for teaching reading to the different learner
- Fluency and accuracy training for reading
- Clear methods for writing the 5 paragraph types
- Custom planners and organizers that develop Executive Function skills

Tutor Network

Multisensory Teaching has developed a caring, well-trained network of tutors experienced in working with students who have learning differences. They use research-based techniques that build skills and confidence.

WHEN you call:

A free phone consultation is available to help assess needs and explain our services. We offer the support and answers that can help every child begin the journey toward academic success!

SERVICE AREAS:

- Dyslexia
- Dysgraphia
- Diagnostic Testing
- Advocacy
- ADD/ADHD Educational Support
- IEP/504 Development
- Educational Consulting
- Evidence-Based Practices
- Outcome-Based Methods

"Parents are the beacon light that guide the ship to safe harbor during stormy times. As a parent of a child with special needs, I know, all too well, how stormy the waters can be."
Alison Wurtz

WHERE we test:

Testing/Assessments take place with Alison at her home office in Port Ewen, NY, at a child's home or in a school setting.

WHY Multisensory Teaching?

Because caring, compassionate support is what parents and students need. Alison has had 20 years of experience helping students with learning differences achieve academic success. Her credentials include:

- Licensed Dyslexia Therapist
- Certified Academic Language Therapist (ALTA)
- Masters in Special Education
- NYS Certified: Students With Disabilities Grades 1-6
- NYS Certified: Pre-K, K, Grades 1-6
- Bachelor of Science in Psychology

